DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Claims 1, 5-21, 25-48 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter. The claims recite a production of an abstract value including a visual output of an abstract value such as a displacement or a strain does not constitute a tangible result in the sense of a practical application such as a control or evaluation or diagnosis of a condition by a user, whether the claims be presented in apparatus or method form. Here there is no change in a material or thing, so the statutory consideration proceeds to consideration of whether a concrete and tangible result is achieved by the claimed subject matter. In this regard, all claims are currently left in a numeric stage or display of this stage.
